

The University of Warwick Medical School

Implemented Activities

The University of Warwick, along with the Universities of Birmingham, Keele and East Anglia (Norwich) was part of the consortium led by the University of Cambridge in developing a platform for combining students with research projects (www.medidem.ac.uk). Warwick was instrumental in providing the Academic pathway, statistics and an overview of using the website. Activities carried out include:

The production of Podcasts:

- 3 separate podcasts were produced with the topic for each podcast being chosen by students with input from academic staff as well.

Running the Website;

- Warwick helped with the running and maintenance of the website.

INSPIRE is coordinated by the Academy of Medical Sciences and supported by the Wellcome Trust. INSPIRE activities are designed and delivered locally by individual medical schools.
